

Thief Gets More Than He Bargained For With This Attempted Break-in

We have long heralded the quality of our entry doors from Provia. Indeed they look great but the quality is remarkable. The picture at the right is a Provia entry door where a thief has tried to gain entry. Our guess is the person behind this attempted break-in initially tried to kick the door in and then used some type of pry bar. Despite their efforts, they could not get the door open. Why you ask? First of all, the overall door is made of 20 gauge steel which is 49% thicker than the typical entry door from a big box retailer. Second, the jamb the deadbolt locks into is reinforced with a 20 gauge steel security plate. Third, the lock and deadbolt area are made with a rigid composite lock block. All this adds up to one secure customer and one very disappointed thief!

DID YOU KNOW?

We have a number of doors and railings that are mis-measures. Although they aren't an exact fit for one customer they just might be an exact fit for you...and at a discounted price too! Stop in the store or give us a call for more details.

Angie's list.

Congratulations to Us! We recently received Angie's List Super Service Award for 2012. What a Honor! A big thank you to all of our customers for their support.

We Do Custom Iron Work!

Most folks when they come to our showroom want to have custom iron work done for railing or doors. Although we do our fair share of those items we also do a number of "outside the box" creations including signs, shutters and this doggie door on the right.

One of our customers wanted a special opening for her dogs but also wanted it secure.

This doggie door is made out of 16 gauge steel with a double cylinder deadbolt. We can also put these doggie doors in actual doors so your furry friends can come and go as they like.
